

Acceptance.

Instead of needing reasons for acceptance,

Reasons like someone was mean to me,

Or, they're friendly, smart, or a transaction.

Let me feel the comfort of acceptance.

Sometimes, entanglement pulls hard.

Sometimes there's nothing there,

Some things may not be entangled in my life,

Let me feel the comfort of acceptance.

Each day is more of my journey,

Experiencing all that life is offering.

I carry the wisdom of my experiences,

Let me feel the comfort of acceptance.

I mentioned to a friend there may be no afterlife,

And he said spirits prove there is something.

The Calm Radio station downloaded and began playing on my phone.

Let me feel the comfort of acceptance.

I am not concerned about a destination,

Because my journey entralls me so.

If the journey continues after I die,

Let me feel the comfort of acceptance.

Written by Peter Skeels © 10-17-2024