

Christmas 2024.

As I give thanks today, I'm aware that the Earth is the biggest and most exciting amusement park in our Galaxy and the Universe.

Where else is there a guy with a sleigh full of presents traveling through the skies and giving them out, even to those who were naughty?

Today is another beautiful morning. Yes, there are things to celebrate, things to mourn if we choose, things to say hello to, and things to remember that we said goodbye to. It's the fabric of our lives.

Enjoy it all with all you can.

Happiness, optimism, and gratitude are all the Creator asks of us.

Written by Peter Skeels © 12-25-2024