It's consoling to listen for the quiet,

and then to hear it again.

For in that silence is pureness

Of thought and action.

Creation started in silence.

A forever time ago.

And in the forever time of now

I learn creation is still possible.

If I take seven circles

And magnify each one

Inside each circle are seven more

And inside each of those

There are seven more. Forever.

Rest, let the creation you already are, be who you are.

The End.
