

The Spiritual Grid.

What if there is a vast spiritual grid that entangles and connects all things?

Some connections are obvious, such as gangs, political parties, churches, and neighborhoods in which we may or may not choose to live.

Science tells us there's a significant amount of dark matter and energy that they cannot measure, and they don't know its composition. These two things make up 95% of our universe. Scientists say that despite being unable to prove their existence, we should believe they exist.

That is also what religions say about God.

My question is: what if both energies are the same thing?

Scientists agree that dark matter is the original building block of all creation, and dark energy is there to increase the size of the universe so all creations can fit and continue to create forever.

Since scientists agree on that, then perhaps the entanglement that quantum physics has uncovered is the God, Creator, Allah, or whatever name you choose to know it by that most people are looking for.

Scientists separated two photons and changed the electric charge in one of them. Despite scientists increasing the distance between them, the other photon instantly matched the changed photon. The change happened faster than the speed of light, which was previously thought to be the fastest anything could travel.

When I first stumbled upon this, it was tricky and confusing to understand, but I now understand better as more knowledge has been uncovered and disseminated. I now realize that everything is energy, from dark matter on.

I am energy.

If I had decided to buy my first house in a poor neighborhood because I was poor, I would have lived in a poor neighborhood. However, I bought the worst house in the best neighborhood I could afford, and that turned out to be a brilliant decision.

The spiritual grid, perhaps, says to put out the energy you want it to match and then let it happen.

Other names would be manifestation, believing, prayer, and optimism.

A friend recently told me, "I don't know how I'll get this done because everything is too heavy."

Later that same day, he met two friends he hadn't seen in more than a year who work in construction. They heard his story and offered to come over and do the work for free. The work is now done.

Coincidence or connection to the spiritual grid?

Think of all the times something similar has happened to you, and then consider whether you can make this a regular way of life.

Written by Peter Skeels © 4-16-2024