

Words.

If one builds a small fire on a cold day, they may still be chilly.

If one builds a large fire on a cold day, they may be too hot.

If one builds just the right size fire on a cold day, they will be cozy and comfortable.

That's how choosing words is for me. I choose my words to create the desired effect.

Written by Peter Skeels © 7-13-2024